AAHOA Applauds President Trump's Push for Small Business Tax and Regulatory Relief

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 30—AAHOA President and CEO Chip Rogers released the following statement today in response President Trump's recent address on giving small business a boost:

“Small businesses are the engine that powers the American economy. Our members welcome President Trump's continued efforts to highlight the benefits of the tax reform plans before Congress that will cut taxes for small businesses and his executive actions to ease the Federal government's burdensome regulatory overreach that stifles growth. These long-overdue reforms would increase investment in the American economy as more small business owners, such as hoteliers, reinvest their tax savings into new construction, new businesses, increased wages, and new jobs for the American people. Our members are optimistic about the opportunities for economic growth and applaud the President's fight to boost small businesses. We look forward to Senate passage of this historic tax reform that will allow our members and millions of other small business owners to create more opportunities in their communities and unleash a new era of unbridled American prosperity.”
