AAHOA Statement on the Save Local Business Act Hearing

WASHINGTON – Chip Rogers, president and CEO of the Asian American Hotel Owners Association, released the following statement today regarding the congressional hearing on the Save Local Business Act:

“The bipartisan leadership that has brought forward the Save Local Business Act should be commended. Today’s hearing showcased once again the confusion that the expanded joint employer standard has caused in this country. Small business owners and entrepreneurs deserve certainty. With this bill’s clarification, they can get back to doing what they do best: creating jobs and running their businesses.”

AAHOA is the largest hotel owners association in the world. The more than 16,000 AAHOA members own almost one in every two hotels in the United States. With billions of dollars in property assets and hundreds of thousands of employees, AAHOA members are core economic contributors in virtually every community in the United States. As an association, AAHOA is a proud defender of free enterprise and the foremost current-day example of realizing the American Dream.
